Mrs. Joe Lazaneo, Jr. 721 3rd Street Gilroy. California 95020

Dear Mrs. Lasaneot

President Johnson has referred to this Department your correspondence of October 17, 1968.

The strength of our nation lies in its adherence to law which protects the individual. There are many safe-guards in our legal system which ensure the individual the time and apportunities to defend himself against criminal charges. Sometimes, it appears as if this is "protecting the criminal", but, in reality, it is guaranteeing his freedoms under the Constitution.

Orimes such as murder are generally within the jurisdiction of state and local authorities and the Department of Justice has the authority to intervene only in those instances where the violation of some federal criminal statute is indicated. When this is the case, this Department does, indeed, intervene to ensure that justice is carried out.

Your interest in writing to express your views and concern is appreciated.

Sincerely,

STEPHEN J. POLIAK Assistant Attorney General Civil Rights Division

721 Third St., Gilroy, Calif. Oct. 15, 1968.

The Honorable George W. Milias, Member of the Assembly, 22nd. District, State Capitol, Sacramento, Calif. 95814.

Sir,

This letter is to bring something to your attention that has been on my mind for a long time. Because of your record locally, and your reputation for pursuing something until results are obtained, I hope you will channel this correctly to get maximum results.

Red tape I cannot cut-the channels open to you I do not have, but I have been writing letters. The first was to Eric Sevareid, who in Look Magazine last July had three articles about "America is Pointed in the Right Direction", or some similar title in the face of the senseless assassination of Robert Kennedy. Another was to Walter Cronkite, who permitted Chicago "Boss" Daley to air his views over the network after the disaster that was the Democratic National Convention. Then to Attorney-General Ramsey Clark, when even President Johnson cried out"for God's sake, let us have liberty, but under the law". To Gov. Reagan, asking that my letter be properly forwarded addressed to Richard Nixon when he spoke in Santa Clara; to Vice-Pres. Humphrey and Edmund Muskie to Waverly, Minn. as the campaign started. I have received one answer to all these-from Vice-Pres. Humphrey.

The immediate subject is the punishment of the assasins of Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy. Why the innumerable delays, the careful protection of men caught with smoking guns that commit the crimes? Were circumstantial evidence involved, where the suspect might be wrongfully convicted—but these, along with the killers of Medgar Evers, the three civil rights workers buried under a construction site, the housewife, Mrs. Liuso——all the murderers tried and released with no comparable death penalty. What right has the man to live or even ask for a trial who murdered the 8 student nurses in cold blood?

Under the repeated circumstance of release of these criminals due to all the loopholes and technicalities to be found in the law, justice is so seldome done these days in the top level crimes that real justice is becoming the travesty of our time.

Delays, protection of the criminal, loopholes—these are bad enough, but how much greater compounded is the disgrace of solution when the criminal is remanded to psychiatrists—declared incompetent, unfit, insane—some excuse but so effective, to get them off for rehabilitation. Our latest in the California courts are the two who killed 3 in 3 states, left Susan Bartolome for dead; but she is going thru life without speech and totally paralysed. Now one of these fiends is called a "mental cripple". Today, (10-16-68) the other's sordid background is supposed to minimize his guilt?

The insanity or mental defective bit is the worst of all, and oddly enough continues to get our wholehearted cooperation in the courts. Our society could become saturated with these whom the optimists wish to rehabilitate. If statistics were known, how many of these, from rapists to murderers are released for a second chance which only turns into the opportunity to repeat the offense-often more savagely than the first time? Why, in our society, do the courts permit the lives of these deviates to be so carefully treated? How long would it have taken justice to be done thru regular channels, if the peculiar, cancer-ridden little man who did not care about himself had not shot Lee Harvey Oswald? And what would the verdict have been?

None of the loopholes can be plugged at federal level--it is the responsibility of the states. But always with so much time elapsing to take the edge off of our anger and hatred--to insist on a fair trial when in my estimation no trial is deserved--meanwhile, the murdered ones are gone, and the maimed are left to struggle thru life. Are Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy important enough to our society for justice to be done, at least in these cases, or are they to be let go scot free, or with some insignificant sentence? What became of the way some countries still handle it--punishment fits the crime, and it is carried out in kind? We just might have a far less permissive society if the culprits knew that their lives would be forfeited exactly as they killed or maimed their victims. The idea would be realistically effective; it is not sadistic.

The word, for the average citizen, Mr. Milias, is frustration-which seems to be the only recourse after the dismay, shock, and helplessness engendered by these acts. We are, also, always hopeful, awaiting a change of administration, etc. ad infinitum. We wait, to what end? Certainly not to have our feelings compounded by the inadequacies of laws or the inactivity of officialdom which seems to harbor, even nurture, the contaminating criminals, rather than eliminating them. How is our best interest served when we cater to the criminals rather than eliminating them? How many more postponements will Sirhan get--along full news coverage with pictures which maintains that the trial was postponed in order not to lock the jurors up over the holidays--since June 6 yet!

Does not the frustrated citizen, Mr. Milias, have a right to ask: "how long, Oh, Lord, how long, before the courts will eliminate all the delays that favor the criminal's life, in order to dispense punishment as fast and as final as the death or maiming that comes to those attacked?

Questions I have, but answers I do not get-until We read again that yet another of these misfits has not been sentenced to death as they should be Where could my letter be sent to be most effective? Who is the governor of Tennessee-the state in whose custody we find James Earle Ray, who probably will be released for lack of evidence as are most of the crimes against negroes? What can you do about it in your official capacity? Since state judiciary is involved, would you please bring my letter to their attention also?

Very truly yours,

(Mrs. Joe Lazaneo, Jr.)

NIXON NOT, only do CANDIDATE

ngerous Our countr By TOM WICKER

During Richard a recent rally Nixon at the Pacific Auditorium in Santa Monica, local policemen began urgent ly pushing along a group of ly pushing along a group or long - haired picketers gath-ered outside. Whereupon these members of the witty and sassy younger generation dumbfounded them by setting up the chant:

Raise police salaries!

The cops can hardly rough up anybody demonstrating for that kind of goal and, in fact, the picketers were making a better point than the presidential candidate who was orating inside the packed hall. Everywhere Nixon goes, he is calling for strict law enforce ment and promising that "new leadership and attorney general" will and a new will put a stop to crime — which, presumably, includes street demonstrations and riots.

* * * — Nixon is even PROBLEM proclaiming himself an expert in this area, but for a man who believes himself about to become President, he really is taking dangerous political advantage of the country's undoubted concern about "crime in the streets" and "law and order." The net effect of his campaign could be to present him and his prospective new administration with a more serious problem than the one Nixon speaks about so forcefully -and which is, to some extent, imaginary.

In Denver, on Sept. 25, as an example, he said that in Washington, D. C., "bus drivers have to carry weapons."

In fact, District of Columbia in the control of the columbia in the columb law specifically prohibits them from doing so, and the D. C. Transit Company says it would fire any driver who did. Nixon relentlessly tells his audiences that "crime" has audiences that "crime" risen nine times the popula-tion increase and three times did in fast as it Eisenhower administration. Whatever statistical basis there may be for these assertions, they are obviously too slick, because crime statistics, best, at best, are inaccurate, in-complete and often misleadand cannot be employed honestly in such generalities.

GENERALITIES -Nixon offers some other vague generalities to suggest that he also would do something about the social conditions in which crime flourishes, but his primary emphasis always is on tough law enforcement. It is seldom on the improvement of police personnel, techniques, working conditions and understanding, all of which have to precede any really effective law enforcement.

Ironically, this comes at a time when real progress in improving American police work is being made, some of it under the impressive leadership of the one offici. Nixon never fails to attack one official Attorney General Ramsey Clark. The Law Enforcement Assistance Act that Clark nursed through Congress promises even further improvements.

For example, starting salaries for the police in some major cities have edged into the $8,000 to $10,000 bracket.

In many localities, educational requirements are rising. In Multnomah County, Oregon, which is mostly the city of Portland, deputy sheriffs now must have a college degree. In the past three years, more than twice as many states have made available college courses in police sciences, and more than twice as many of these courses now exist which means at least twice as many professionally policemen.

In the same general period, Justice Department officials believe, far moi police leadership far more e effective at the top has been developed, at least in the major cities. The social upheavals and urban disor-ders of recent years have for ced mayors and police commissioners to face up to their problems and to take intelligent steps to analyze and deal with them.

_* Thus,* EASIER EASIER — Thus, as many high-ranking police and Jus many tice Department officials see it, coping with "crime in the streets'' streets" is going to become easier in the long run — but coping with policemen may become harder in the short short run. The political climate encourages some police forces to strain civil authority, and causes political leaders to be hesitant or ineffective in restraining them. Policemen obviously taking the law into the their own hands, in Chicago (a number of indictments stem from current investigations) are followed, predictably enough, by off-duty police-men beating up black milimen beating up black tants in New York City.

It is this political climate that Nixon's tough talk helps to create. - althor h the ıg George Wallace and any number of local demagogues are far worse. Nevertheless, Nixon clearly risks making such a point of "getting tough" that his election will be interpreted by every heavy - handed policeman in the country as a license to beat up somebody probably somebody poor, black or young, and prefera-bly all three.

Nixon would be entitled toreplace Clark but if he should do so with a hard-liner, and then follow that by substitut-ing tough cops for President Johnson's excellent appointments to the new Law Enforcement Assistance Agency, everybody had better get a helmet.

Bombing Pause In Vietnam Another Communist Victory

Millions of Americans undoubtedly will be cheered by the impending prospects of a bombing halt in Vietnam. Some will hopefully assume the war could grind to a halt, with no more American boys fighting and dying. Others will delight that their peacenik movement will have won its point and now there will be no more destruction raining down on their left wing friends in North Vietnam.

But there are those, including us, who look with considerable trepidation upon the proposed bombing cessation, even if it would have the bonus of warring on a smaller scale. The reason for such concern is that once again the mighty United States would be losing a war, making a waste of the some 25,000 men killed, the tens of thousands more wounded, and the $100 billion invested to ensure the freedom of the South Vietnamese, who, of course, truly would not be free from the threat of Hanoi.

IN THE EVENT anybody has forgot, we lost the war in Korea. We didn't win it, as could have been accomplished, we lost it by being pinned down in a stalemated armistice that requires our military presence in South Korea. We lost, because we did not crush Communist aggression as we had promised.

Instead, our national political leadership arranged a humiliating accommodation with a bush league Communist outpost that stripped us naked of our integrity before the world.

And now the Communists are nearing repetition of the degradation by luring us into another rapprochement in Vietnam. From the outset, Ho Chi Minh set the terms for our further discomfiture: end all bombing and include the Viet Cong in the truce negotiations in the form of the National Liberation Front.

As much as anybody else, we want to see the fighting end. We, too, yearn for days of peace when our young men can have normal lives and our country can go about its business in science and education and improving the lot of the less fortunate.

HOWEVER, such desires are to dent terms for suspended war in Vietnam.

There was a lesson in Korea, but it has been ignored by our leaders. Communists do not expect us to conquer them and place their territory under military occupation. But they do know that we will attempt to negotiate a peace and will be tolerant almost beyond human endurance to that end.

The hundreds of meetings between the truce teams at Panmunjom, some of which amounted to nothing more than entering the room of the peace hut in the Demilitarized Zone and glaring in silence across the table, set the pattern of the political strategy in a no-win policy.

The pattern also includes the divided nation, as in Korea and in Vietnam; the Demilitarized Zone repeatedly violated by the Communists, and the terrorist attacks in territory under our jurisdiction, not to forget the calculated provocations such as the USS Pueblo.

Our destiny in Vietnam, we fear, is one more Lilliputian strand to hold us prone against Communist salami-style world aggression.

down Mtkbref win monary and economic commitments.

Our presence is required in Western Europe because of the Russian threat.

WE ARE LOCKED in West Berlin because there has been no formal settlement of World War II - once again because of a Communist-divided nation, Germany.

And Cuba is poised at a shaft aimed at our underbelly and the Western Hemisphere.

Thus, it must follow to wonder where the next pressure point will emerge.

Perhaps it may be in the Middle East. Or in Africa. Possibly in a new confrontation in West Berlin over closing the Autobahn; or at The Wall.

Maybe the thrust will be in Panama. But it could be in Thailand to consolidate Southeast Asia for the Reds with Burma, Sumatra or Indonesia in the line of march for Communist attack.

Any of these can be the cost of an uneasy peace in Vietnam, as that war was the price we paid for our failure in South Korea.

> Mr. M. M. Rudolph 4162 Birchwood Drive, So. Liverpool, New York 13088

Dear Mr. Rudolph:

This is in reply to your correspondence of October 7, 1968, concerning the trial of the alleged slayer of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Sirhan B. Sirhan.

As you know, the confinement of witnesses is both for their own protection and to ensure that the judicial processes may be properly carried out. Although this is an inconvenience for the persons involved, it is often necessary. A citizen's desire to provide information he possesses in spite of personal inconvenience is of great importance to our judicial system.

As for the frequent postponement of trials, this is also a method of ensuring justice. If an attorney has good cause in the eyes of the court for postponement, it is granted with the view that justice may more properly be carried out. The objective of the court in such cases is to enable all persons fair treatment under due process of law.

Your interest in writing to express your views is appreciated.

Sincerely,

STEPHEN J. POLLAK

United States attorney General Ramoey Clarks.
Waster States Department of Justice
Waster The West Control of Justice

DELPHINENT OF JUSTICE E 30 OCT 17 1968 Dear Sir, enough and have had more than enough time to prepare his case, I tis not fair to confine the witnesses to Robert J. Kennedy tragic assassination any longer, Some of these people cannot stand to be confined even if it is for their own protection. I their fixtures were not shown on T.V. along be no need to confine them. If they sequest to be seleased, and to our knowledge one has and is out on bail their line is the trial on bail their lives are in jeopardy, as long as the trial of Sirhan continues to be postported which Couldge on for months or longer, at the sate things are going, there may never be a trial. Why? Because more witnesses will want to be out of confinement and by the time every thing is settled and Dirhan's lawyer's are finally prepared, the trial may never come to be. Once again why? Bicause there may be no witnesses alive, perhaps the evidence may be destroyed. The members of any anti american group may find a way to reach Sirkan so he will not be able to talk and also the witnesses as well as the evidence. Impossible, no it is not. It did happen before . I here were ten witnesses willing to testify after the absassination of our late President John & Kennedy . Theywere willing to tell everything they saw and know about the tragidy. They are all dead and not by natural causes There were other witnesses who were approached and threatened They feared for their pafety and those of their lovedones too frightened to speak to any one concerning the assossination.

2. If you wish to check or review the nothere is tormuch to add on this subject, refer to the February, 1967 issue of losmopolitan magazine. The article was written by David Welsh and William Jurner. as you well know We demand action now I he seasons for the postponement are not even justified. Sirhans lawyers do not appear to Mayor yorty is known to have never liked Robert Kennedy. Our Bobby is gone, his children have been left Jatherless, his wife lonely and bereaved, his family shocked and his brother has been left to earry more burden added to what he already has now Ted is the lone male Tennedy surviver, Bobley's eampaign workers and the people here and all over the world are still shocked and mourn for him, he will live on in the hearts of all the people who loved him. We demand that Sirkan be moved to another state, now secretly and under heavy security guard and remain there as such until the trial of it is possible after the trial would even be better. Roosevelt brees among many others did a lot to capture and keep. Sirkan page and alive to stand trial. We the people want him to stand treat, as it is the american way and the right way? At the same time there is more than enough evidence and witnesses to prove his guilt as I mentioned before, all of this will be proven at the trial, and the answer will be guilty as charged, premeditated and without reasonable doubt. The death penalty will be two easy and ton line of the deserves to serve the rest of his and too final, He deserves to serve the rest of his life in prison. If this should be the case, he may have to have guards twenty four hours a day which lam sure can come out of the tarpayers money as everything else does, with the constant rise in takes. I his is for a better cause then some of the others, for spample, beaulifying america by destroying buildings that need not be, only to build some other buildings we do not need. There are so many ways the tap payers money is being missed needlessly; Money that can and should be put to better use, Sirkan is only one of many where our money can be put to use. What about the girl in the polks dot dress? She was supposed to have been found, questioned, released, and her case closed. I he dress was found later in a paper frage but that Part of the dress, the girl in the polker old dress was never re-opened. After finds the dress in such an unusale manner, why close it still remain closed.

as you can see, we have man reasons for the on inventher state, and as soon to possible.

Mr. + Mrs. m. M. Rudolph

P. S. again we must refer to Sishan B. Sishan's trial as we have just finished reading about Russell E. Parson's latest request for another delay in his trial This I believe to be correct bould be the sixth time. It is picture is not that of a person with any feeling of guilt for the tragic crime he is being accused of, but the expression of one who knew what he did at the time, and of one who is not suffering any segret or sorrow for committing such a exime. He have seen that a sine expression soon after the crime, when they cleaned him up, yes, the pame look on his face. He appears to be content and in his own way pleased for being or successful!

We are our that every jury trial is not postponed because of the holidays. Why should be be made an exception! I talling for more time in hopes the spirit of the people including the fury, judge and everyone involved with this will change in favor of Listan B Suhan, and more time for his lawyer. We will not change our feelings of our great loss and what it has done to our people and country and perhaps even effect our world affairs.

No, this is too big! no more delays, excuses, just go on with the trial, We demand justice!
